Become a Member of the Rhode Island Center for Law and Public Policy

RICLAPP's mission is to provide access to legal services to low income Rhode Islanders, small non-profit agencies and for-profit small businesses as well as to develop public policy initiatives for the betterment of all Rhode Islanders.

In the last year, thousands of new businesses were registered with the Corporations Division of the Rhode Island Secretary of State. Since there are so many ways to organize a business entity, each with various legal consequences, the Center's goal is to assist individuals and support small business formation by providing legal services ranging from advising about appropriate business organization (e.g. corporation, LLC, PC, etc.), drafting Articles of Operation, drafting By-laws, licensing processes, and employment issues and policies.
